HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—The Talbot Bill, passed by the special session of the legislature and appropriating $10,000,000 for relief purposes in the state, was ruled constitutional today by the Dauphin county court.

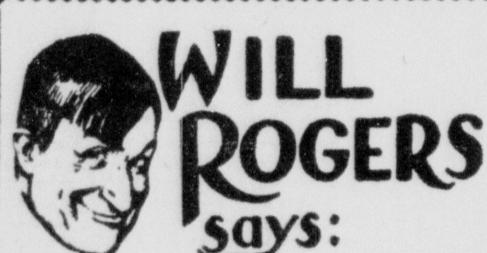

Attorney General William A. Schnader had contended that the bill did not come within the purview of the call of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, who summoned the general assembly to provide unemployment relief. Schnader also argued the legislature did not provide revenue for the appropriation and the estimated revenue for the biennium cannot accommodate the added appropriation.

Test Proceedings

Test proceedings were started by R. L. Coughlin, solicitor for the central poor district of Luzerne county. Coughlin argued there will be sufficient revenue in the state and that the legislature did just what the governor requested when it passed the relief measure.

Judges William M. Hargett, Franklin B. Wickersham and John E. Fox signed the opinion. It directed that a preemptory mandamus be issued directing Mrs. Alice Liveright, secretary of welfare, Charles A. Waters, auditor general, and Edward

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Had a fine day today over with the Morrow family in Jersey.

The more difficulties pile up on us, the more we realize what this country lost when we lost him.

The little Lindbergh baby is the cutest thing you ever saw, walking, talking and disgracing the Lindbergh name by crying to come away with Mrs. Rogers and I in the car.

Say, just left Ring Lardner. There is a man that has forgot more humor than all the rest of us try to write. He is working on a new baseball series that's bigger news to America than if the Japs evacuated Chu Chin Chow.

Had lunch and a two-hour chat with Al Smith yesterday. He took me up on top of his building, the highest in the world. He can pretty near see Washington from there; well, as near as anybody can, anyhow.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—After a month of comparative idling, congress faced a series of decisions this week on the most important economic issues confronting the nation.

Unemployment relief, expansion of federal credit, the constitutional amendment outlawing lame ducks, labor's anti-injunction bill, increased taxation and federal economy in appropriations constituted the legislative program at either end of the capital.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15. (nun)—Japanese air, land, and sea forces reopened a terrific bombardment on the ruins of Woosung fort and the shore defences of Woosung Village today preliminary to a gigantic attack planned as a final devastating blow to the Chinese.

Ten more heavily-laden Japanese transports steamed up the Yangtze this morning and turned in at the Whampoo river for Shanghai, pushing the Woosung hostilities as guns boomed away furiously.

The new ships pushed their way slowly and ominously as a ghastly single-file parade out of the morning murkiness.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.—(3:32 p.m.)—Japanese troop transport ships poured men and arms into Shanghai today in preparation for a big push which Japan hopes will be a final driving of the Chinese forces from the Shanghai area.

Had lunch and a two-hour chat with Al Smith yesterday. He took me up on top of his building, the highest in the world. He can pretty near see Washington from there; well, as near as anybody can, anyhow.

The Chinese, spurred by recent successes and renewed pleas from national leaders for a "stand to the death," also massed troops for a big battle.

Thousands upon thousands of Chinese troops stand ready to fight in towns and villages all about Shanghai, it was revealed today with the discovery that the strength of the defenders is much greater than had been believed.

35,000 Japs Ready

It was impossible to accurately estimate the total number of men ready for action on either side, but observers placed the Japanese numbers, with today's arrivals, at about 35,000, while the Chinese strength was put at a considerably higher figure.

Troop movements in the direction of Shanghai indicated that Japan may be planning to outflank the Chinese of the Chapei area, cutting them off from their Woosung forces and driving them back along the railway.

Chinese military officials warned against the frightful possibility that the Japanese army might employ gas shells in their projected Woosung attack. Chinese officers said they were convinced the Japanese landed gas equipment, and added:

"It would be impossible to limit destruction to the Chinese alone. It is inevitable the deadly fumes will blow towards the international settlement, leaving Americans and other foreigners at its mercy."

Winning Olympic Ski Jump

Apparently suspended in mid air, Birger Ruud, of the Norwegian team, is shown in this beautiful picture soaring away through space to land far out on the Intervales Hill at Lake Placid, N. Y., to win the Olympic ski-jumping championship. Ruud's leaps were 218 feet and 226 feet, which, though not the longest, were made in such splendid style that he was declared the winner.

Tom Mix To Wed Circus Aerialist

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15.—A romance that blossomed under the "big top" of a circus in which they were star performers was to culminate in the marriage today at Yuma, Ariz., of Tom Mix, millionaire film and circus performer, and Mabel Ward, daring aerialist.

Accompanied by Mix's daughter, Thomasina, 9, and by Mr. and Mrs. Monte Blue, Mix and Miss Ward planned to leave for Yuma and probably return tonight.

Miss Ward, in private life Mabel Hubbard, a native of Middle Grove, Ill., established a record last season by making 300 one-arm revolutions on a high bar, unprotected by nets.

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 15.—In return for immunity, two of the five native gangsters who were charged with criminally attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie, 19-year-old bride of a United States naval officer, today made complete confessions. International News Service learned from an unimpeachable authority.

The natives were Horace Ida and David Takai, two of the five defendants whose case ended in a mistrial after which Joseph Kahahawai, one of the defendants, was kidnapped and murdered.

Defense Shattered

The testimony of Ida and Takai at the trial was expected to completely shatter the alibi defense of the gangsters.

The most dramatic feature of the new testimony will be the confessions which Ida and Takai made in return for immunity and an opportunity to depart from Honolulu because of fear of vengeance by friends of the defendants.

Ida, International News Service learned from the high territorial official, made his written confession the night he was kidnapped, taken to a lonely cliff and beaten by a gang who seriously sought details of the attack by the natives upon Mrs. Massie. He implicated the other four men including takai and Kahahawai.

The drafting committee was unable to draw up a satisfactory text explaining the council's reluctance to call an extraordinary session of the League assembly on its own initiative, as asked by China, it was understood.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.—Japan is not warring on China, she simply is "restoring peace with an army." Lieut. Gen. Kenkichi Ueda, commander of the Japanese troops here, told International News Service today.

Japan stands firm in its resolution to drive the Chinese back, Ueda said, and will use force to attain this end.

The Japanese army commander disclaimed the League of Nations Shanghai committee charges that the Japanese should take the blame for assuming the offensive.

"The Japanese army has not arrived here on a mission of war," Ueda declared. "Rather it is here to help maintain neutrality in the international settlement.

It's high time for someone to fly the Pacific, hop off a bridge or do something as rash, or there's need for new head lines to liven the papers, something that carries some spice and some dash. For day after day we see stories from Shanghai, tales of the forts at Woosung that are through, stories of Japs as they storm with their gun fire, stories of what is done on the Woosung forts firing upon ships.

"Once such firing is silenced there is no reason for us to occupy the forts—in other words, it is not war."

Blimp Battles In New York With Big Wind Storm, Loses

Mechanic Killed When He Leaps As Blimp Starts
Downward, Pilot Only
Scratched

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—New Yorkers were still talking about that "blimp" escapade Saturday afternoon which resulted in the death of a mechanic who leaped from the crippled craft, and injury to the pilot. The "blimp" came down a mass of wreckage on the railroad tracks near Whitestone Landing, New York.

The ship lost a battle with the elements, in a 40-mile wind when it became unmanageable. Several small shanties were knocked over by the ship as it hit the ground. The pilot scrambled out of the debris and had but a few scratches.

John Blair, a mechanic, became unnerved as the ship tossed about in the wind and leaped out. He died enroute to the hospital.

Many thousand New Yorkers witnessed the grim battle the small airship had to maintain its equilibrium.

Police Chief At St. Marys, And Two Others Face Trial

Charges Of Extortion Will Be Aired In Court Week
From Today

(International News Service)
KANE, Pa., Feb. 15.—Three alleged extortionists, including Police Chief C. G. Yetzer of St. Marys today began preparations for a court trial on charges of "shaking down" a restaurant owner of $1,600 on a threatened liquor charge.

E. J. Discoll, of St. Marys, former U. S. district attorney, was retained as attorney for the accused men who face trial in the McKeon criminal court term which starts a week from today.

Those implicated with the police chief are Theodore Kallas and Marinos Kalabukas. All are accused of extorting the money from Christ Korotos, a restaurant owner. The latter said he paid it "to keep out of jail." He admitted he was violating the prohibition law, authorities said.

Yetzer, Kallas and Kalabukas denied the charges. They are free under $1,000 bond.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED ON THREE SALESMEN

William Wood, Wayne Bonnett, and Don Infante, three salesmen, claiming Youngstown as their home and selling goods, which they alleged gave ten percent to an orphange, who were arrested Saturday morning for selling without a permit, were on Sunday morning given a hearing before Mayor Charles B. MISS MINNIE FULTZ
WEDS JOHN HAWN

SHARE HONORS AT BIRTHDAY EVENT

Saturday at 2 p.m. a beautiful wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kremel, 137 Hillcrest avenue, when Miss Minnie Fultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fultz, became the bride of John Hawn, 507 Fairmont avenue.

The ring ceremony was used, with Rev. John Kellner, pastor of the First Pentecostal church as the officiating clergyman. The bride was charmingly gowned in white georgette with a lace veil held in place by a band of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies, tulips, daffodils and narcissi.

Supplementing the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, with places arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fultz, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kremels, Mrs. Kremel being a sister of the bride; Miss Minnie Fultz, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Krause, and Rev. and Mrs. John Kellner.

Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Hawn left for Cleveland, Ohio, where they will visit friends for a few days, then go to Chicago, and Milwaukee.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Hawn will be at home to the friends on 507 Fairmont avenue.

Luncheon Bridge.

Mrs. J. W. Anderson, Pine street, entertained at a beautifully appointed luncheon bridge Thursday.

At 1 o'clock a delicious meal was served at a table arranged with clever suggestions of St. Valentine day and the hostess was aided by Mrs. Robert Hamilton in serving.

The afternoon hours were given over to cards and at conclusion play Mrs. Heber Anderson and Mrs. Roy Warnock were awarded prizes for their prowess at 500, while the bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Hamilton and Mrs. Roy Jones.

A number of women from New Castle who are interested in the Peace movement will attend the Pittsburgh conference and any desiring to go will get in touch with Mrs. Herbert Kirk.

F. B. Club

The F. B. Club members were received in the home of Eleanor and Florence Plye of 110 South Ray street on a recent day. Interesting games were played, causing much amusement among the guests. Preceding the serving of a dainty lunch by the hostess, a brief business session was called.

A special guest of the occasion was Miss Annabel Tindall.

The next meeting will be held on February 25, the hostess to be announced later.

K. A. B. Club

The K. A. B. Club members will entertain Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Swartzlander on Warren avenue.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It does no much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid avon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of dandruff will be gone, and two more applications will completely destroy the sign and trace of it.

All find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid avon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

1931 Glendale Bridge Club.

Members of the 1931 Glendale Bridge club will be entertained on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Stephen Skuba, 220 Hillcrest avenue.

THE UNITED STATES IS AT WAR

THE United States is at war. The president has issued a proclamation to that effect. Not with Japan, Not with any country. But with depression. It is a bloodless war, but nevertheless a real conflict waged against what might be termed a state of mind, and volunteers are called for.

Very important policies for restoring confidence have issued from the white house and have been put through by congress. But there is need for something more. Stowed away in safe-deposit boxes or in other places are enormous funds lying idle and doing no good to their owners. If the $4,300,000,000 thus hoarded could be put to work something would certainly happen of great benefit to all of the people.

This money has gone into hiding because the hoarders have been filled with fear, and fear is perhaps the most distressing word in any language. The hoarders have not been without excuse heretofore. Weak banks were failing. They were afraid that their deposits in banks that were still functioning might be in danger. So they withdrew their dollars and made the situation worse.

The time for timidity has passed. But how to induce them to replace fear with confidence? Evidently a campaign of education is necessary, and this is precisely what is bound to be undertaken. There are plenty of banks whose strength is impregnable, and money taken out of storage and deposited in such institutions goes into immediate circulation to the advantage of business. Government securities are to be had, and if they are not safe, then nothing is safe. There are plenty of standard bonds and stocks that are to be secured at bargain counter prices. The man with cash is in a position to profit very materially by sound investments.

The war against depression is on in earnest, and the hoarder can and should render valiant service.

A TAX ON COLONELS

In the past being a Kentucky colonel has been all honor and no pay. If a bill now before the Kentucky legislature becomes law, the title will carry with it a pay provision but it will be a tax, not a salary.

It is proposed to levy an annual tax of $100 on all who continue to use the honorary title of colonel after their commissions have expired. That it is a revenue-raiser, rather than a restrictive measure, is apparent from the fact that the last two governors alone appointed a thousand colonels, and once a Kentucky colonel always a Kentucky colonel.

Playing colonel seems to be a major industry in the blue grass country. Since a man who is once a Kentucky colonel continues the title without much regard for the actual term of his appointment, there must be thousands of these "patriotic, courageous, loyal and fearless colonels," as they are described in the resolution before their legislature.

Were it possible to collect $100 annually from her army of colonels, Kentucky would have solved her state revenue problem, especially if the title and tax entitled said colonel to his historic quota of mint juleps.

GREW GOES TO TOKIO

Tokio is getting a "career" man as ambassador from the United States at a time when this mission will put to a test the best that is in a veteran diplomat. He is Joseph Clark Grew, who has spent his entire life in the foreign service of his country.

A hungry tiger in a jungle of the Far East gave Grew his chance to rise in the foreign service. As a young consular clerk he was sitting at his ease in the jungle when a hungry tiger crouched to spring upon him. Without moving from his position he lifted his rifle in the instant that was left to him for action and put a bullet between the beast's eyes.

President Roosevelt apparently found a deadly similarity between jungles and diplomacy, because when the thrilling story reached the ears of the romantic and adventurous executive he promoted Grew to the office of third assistant secretary in the American embassy in Mexico.

Grew was chosen for the Tokio post at this time because he is recognized as the ablest living authority on Western European affairs and his new job will largely be one of untangling the complexities of European interests in Asia that the United States may not become further entangled in them.

AMERICAN TONGUE

George Bernard Shaw estimates that there are 42,767,500 dialects of the English language. He lists a few of them and finds special reason to object to the form which the mother tongue took in the mouth of Woodrow Wilson. Americans in general irritates him. And he finds very little hope of bringing all these divergent accents into unity.

None will disagree with Mr. Shaw's conclusion that the task of making English one language is well-nigh hopeless. Americans will never learn to speak English as Londoners speak it. There is as little chance of that as that Americans will learn to speak it as it is spoken in Oxford.

Any American, however, knows that the English dramatist and critic was not conservative in his estimate of the number of English dialects. He counts but 42,767,500. There are many that in the United States alone. Somebody has counted 236 in a single city block. Most apartment houses have as many dialects as they have families.

A New Yorker is known wherever he goes by his dialect, and another New Yorker listening to him can tell whether he lives in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx or Harlem. From Maryland, the speech of Ohio sounds much like that of Kansas and it takes a fine ear to differentiate Kansas and Iowa. But in Ohio, the Kansas speech is regarded as low and outlandish and the Kansan sneers when he hears the twang of Dubuque. Nor is there greater difference here than between the native tongues of Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

The latest political dope is that the Russian five-year plan will run for a second term.

The report that the world's first motorcycle is still in running condition confirms our suspicions.

About the only promise vice presidential aspirants need make is that their women folks will accept any place at the table.

They ought to take that Atlanta boy who is 7 feet 8 inches tall and still has eight inches to grow to Wall Street to shame some of those low stocks.

All Of Us

When a Man's in Love
He's an Odd Fellow
"Who Understands a Man?"

By ARSHAI MASLIN

The w men will talk about love—I have and them do so—but you will hardly find a man who will soberly, deliberately, without embarrassment, discuss that subject and reveal what it means to him.

When I say that of men, I do not mean poets. Poets are men, certainly, and more many—many of them—than many a fine fellow who flexes his muscles and boasts of his hardness. . . . But poets are men who are not ashamed to talk of what is closest to their hearts; they are not little boys fascinated by the little girl next door, but throwing rocks at her to attract attention.

A man will talk about women and he will catalog their irritations and their attractions. But though you get him into a corner and pester him like a cross-examining lawyer, he will NOT talk about love. He will not say "Love is beautiful," but he WILL say, "The woman I love is lovely!"

Thinking of the past, of a certain year, he will talk of the good times he had, he will mention "parties," excursions, old friends, . . . . He will not be heard saying, "Life was good in that year because I was in love."

A woman may say, "I was a fool when I loved that man!" . . . . But a man, mistaken, will not mention the matter again. A woman is franker, a man's more likely to be ashamed.

Could I explain these varying ways of men and women and love? Not I! Not though I had a thousand years and a million pages at my disposal. Men are thus and women are so, and there's a difference between them, though some deny it. And a man in love is terribly afraid that other men will laugh at him.

A man may tell some women that he's in love—or he might whisper it to a baby or write a poem about it—or tell some understanding old oak tree in the middle of great field—but he's not likely to tell many men . . . . This I do know.

A woman in love may do silly things and flout the world. . . . A man will do silly things, too, and nobody notices.

But deep, deep in his heart a man knows that love is the best of all glories that the world can have for him. . . . Except, if you don't mind, he'd rather not talk about it.

He may even, poor creature, feel a prickly embarrassment when he writes about love. That's why a woman poet wrote, "O dear, who understands a man?"

A man may tell some women that he's in love—or he might whisper it to a baby or write a poem about it—or tell some understanding old oak tree in the middle of great field—but he's not likely to tell many men . . . . This I do know.

They sure do put the x-ray onto the gentlemen who want to be president of the United States. They can tell what he eats at every meal during the entire campaign.

Dear Mr. Hints and Dints: Try this on your piano:

"Theophilus Thistle, the successful thistle sifter, in sifting a sieveful of unshifted thistles, thrust three thousand thistles through the thick of his thumb. See that thou in sifting a sieveful of unshifted thistles, thrust not three thousand thistles through the thick of thy thumb. Success to the successful thistle sifter."

"LILLA."

"A Philosopher Is Robbed"

A thief broke into his room one day And carried his watch and his purse away:

Looked at him sleeping, and thought with a smile:

"Well, I guess I have all that he owns worth while,

You could almost say I have stripped him bare."

So he closed his grip and he left him there.

The victim woke, he missed his things,

His purse, his watch and his diamond rings;

His coat, his vest, his trousers and shoes,

All stuff which anyone's apt to lose,

And he counted his losses and said,

"Why fret?

I am left with much which he couldn't get.

All the wisdom I've learned from books

Is safe from the cunning of stealthy crooks,

Though a thief at night in my room may break

There is much I value he cannot take.

What a terrible crime would this robbery be!

If the man could have stolen one friend with me!

"Suppose it were possible thieves could find

A way to enter the human mind

And steal faith and thought and the dreams men hold,

Instead of the stuff which is bought and sold

Then they could say with a cunning smile

They have stripped a man of many things worth while."

—EDGAR A. GUEST.

IF A FOOL AND A WISE MAN AGREE, WHAT IS THE DISADVANTAGE OF FOOLY?

A certain man owned an orchard and employed an Indian to tend it, promising him in return for his labor two-fifths of the harvest.

When the apples were gathered and placed in baskets for the market, the man said to the Indian: "Is not ten greater than five?" "Much greater," said the Indian. "Then I shall do better than I promised," said the man. Instead of two-fifths, I shall give you two-tenths of the crop."

The Indian knew he was being cheated and threatened suit at law.

"That isn't necessary," said the man. "I shall call in my two nearest neighbors and leave the decision to them." The Indian agreed and the neighbors were called.

One of them was a stupid man who thought tenth greater than a fifth and therefore concluded that the Indian had been given his just due and more. The other neighbor was an expert mathematician but had all men whose skins were not white. He also decided against the Indian.

Now what shall you say of these neighbors? One was stupid and the other prejudiced, and they reached the same decision. Was the stupidity of one any more of a handicap than the prejudice of the other? If each depended on his mind for guidance, and both were tricked in the same

Three Children Slain By Father

West Virginia Man Runs Amuck, Kills Three Children And Commits Suicide
THREE OTHERS ARE WOUNDED

(International News Service)
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 15.—Three children, the eldest, 13, were dead today and three others were in a hospital in a critical condition as the result of the actions of a crazed father who ran amuck and then later shot and killed himself.

B. E. White, 46, the father, beat the children to death with an ax and a poker and critically injured three others, one so seriously her death was expected momentarily.

Those dead are Louise, 13, Joan, 4, and Hilda, 2. The other children, stiff with cold and exposure when found, were Kathleen, 9, James, 11, and Malcolm, 7. Kathleen was expected to die.

After slaying the children, White took a shotgun and shot himself. Coroner W. Frank Work declared the man apparently had been driven insane by financial reverses. He was an automobile salesman.

Woman Missionary Leader Will Not Leave Her Charge

Miss Emma Lyon, Of Washington, Will Not Evacuate Nanking Post

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 15.—Dean of American women missionaries of the Christian church in China, Emma Lyon, of Washington, is safe in Nanking but refused to evacuate her post as principal of a girls' school, relatives here learned today.

In a letter to her brother, William Lyon, and a sister, Mrs. A. O. Houghland, Mass., Lyon declared:

"I have never deserted my post in 40 years of labor and I do not intend to run away now." Fears for Miss Lyon's safety had been felt in view of the fighting about Nanking in the Sino-Japanese warfare.

Two Negro Women Die In Fire In Reported Attempt Of One To Rescue Friend

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—Two dead negro women were burned to death, one reportedly in an attempt to rescue the other, when fire swept the Laney homestead in the heart of the business district in McKeesport, suburb.

Mrs. Joseph Laney, 60, lost her life in the blaze in what was said to be an effort to carry her friend, Mrs. Frances Day, to safety from the blazing house.

Bodies of both women were found in the ruins of the building two hours after the blaze was discovered.

County Officers Make Arrests For Hold-up On Chewton Road

Charged with holding up Frank Lopatka and his brother Joseph, on the Chewton road Wednesday, February 11, Charles Arkel, 18, Daniel Arkel, 31, and James Canami, 18, are in the city jail here waiting to be taken before Squire J. P. Howell of West Pittsburg.

On the date mentioned, Lopatka and his brother were driving in a horse and buggy on the Chewton road when a hold-up man jumped out of the bushes at the side of the road, pointed a gun at them and took their pay from them, a total of about $25.

Since then County Detective Lee has been on the trail of the men wanted and on Saturday afternoon with Assistant County Detective Rocks, Constable Walter Bannon and Constable Joseph Russo arrested the three young men named, charging them with the crime. The Arkel brothers are from West Pittsburg and Canami is from New Castle. They will be heard before Squire Howell this afternoon.

Wave Of Banditry Hits Pittsburgh

Citizens Informed By Superintendent Walsh How To Reach Police

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—Alarmed over the wave of banditry, Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh today ordered distribution of 25,000 cards with instructions how to communicate with police in emergencies.

During the week-end, more than a score of holdups occurred. Loot will total several thousand dollars, police said. Among the victims were men in a Turkish Bath. They stood by helplessly in the nude while the bandits "looted" their clothing.

"I don't think you're telling the truth," the bandit reproved. "But I'll give you a break." He handed back the money.

Kidnappers Fail To Show Up For Demanded Money

Kidnappers Of Henry H. Blagden, Wealthy Sportsman, Fail To Keep Appointment

KIDNAPERS ASK FOR $1,000

(International News Service) LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Henry H. Blagden, wealthy Saranac Lake sportsman, who was kidnapped from the Lake Placid Club on Thursday night within earshot of 1000 people who were dancing in the ballroom, continued today to be listed as "missing" on the police blotters of this section.

On Saturday a letter came to Thomas Blagden, Jr., brother of the missing man, in handwriting which appeared to be that of Blagden, demanding a ransom of $1,000 for the safe return of the sportsman who had come here to attend the winter Olympic games.

Blagden wrote apparently at the dictation of his captors that a pistol was at his head and that he would be killed unless $1,000 was brought to Tupper Lake on Sunday.

Yesterday, Thomas Blagden went to Lake Tupper, 40 miles west of here, a quiet village of 2,000 inhabitants, as directed, with the money but although he waited all afternoon there were no signs of either his brother or the kidnappers.

BAKER REGAINS HIS HEALTH AFTER LONG YEARS OF SUFFERING

Stomach Tortures This Man for Years—Yields at Last to World's Tonic

Mr. Frank Puccari of Rochester, Pa., who is one of the thousands of men and women testifying to the remarkable powers of World's Tonic, had a touch of gall duct trouble until we came to America. Back in Italy, where I learned my trade, I was always as strong as a horse. I worked fourteen hours a day in the hot sun, carrying bread in my uncle's bakery and I never got sick. I saved my money and when I came to America I had enough to start a small bakery of my own.

Everything went fine for the first two years. My business grew so fast that I had to work day and night to take care of it, and that was fine until my health began to go back on me. I began to have spells of terrible pain and I was told it was gall trouble. Gall trouble makes the most terrible agony human beings have ever called upon to suffer. When the pain hit me I just lay on the floor and groaned with pain. I tried applying hot and cold packs, but they gave me little relief. I steadily lost weight and strength. I could not do two men's work in my place, so I tried lots of so-called remedies, but none of them seemed to do me any good. One day, in the drug store next door, I heard a man talking about World's Tonic. He said that this new preparation helps Italians like me and Europeans, as well as Americans. This tonic is made of roots and herbs gathered in different parts of the world. I saw right away that this was something absolutely different from the ordinary American medicines which I had been wasting money on. I bought a bottle of World's Tonic and I commenced to get well the first dose. The first effect of World's Tonic was to give my system a thorough cleaning. After that my appetite picked up and I soon could eat anything, even radishes and turnips. I never had any more pain since I started taking World's Tonic. It is sold at Eckerd's, McKees', Paisley's, Smith's, and all other modern drug stores. (B-47.)

Italy Shows Up Slackers In Move To Aid Unemployed Men

ROME, Feb. 15.—Persons of means who do not contribute to the unemployment fund operated by the Fascist charity organization are being advised in sarcastic terms.

In the city of Bari the federal secretary published this communication:

"The federal secretary exposes today for public admiration the following revered names of two persons who although able to do so, refused to contribute to the winter unemployment fund. . . ."

One of the two names that followed had "millionaire" beside it.

WEAPON EXPLODES; GUNSMITH INJURED

BEAVER, Pa., 15.—Mark Davis, 39, of Ohio township is in the City hospital, East Liverpool, O., in a serious condition from gunshot wound about the mouth and face. William Dillon of near Smith Ferry, at whose home the accident occurred, told state police he was examining a shotgun when the weapon was accidentally discharged. Dillon, a gunsmith, was wounded in the hand.

murder of Frankie Yale, or Uale, in 1928.

Police Inspector Sullivan received information that Prisco, said to be a henchman of Al Capone, had a hand in arranging the assassination of Yale by hired gangsters.

His theory was that Yale followers put Prisco "on the spot" to avenge the killing of their leader.

Seats In Theater Basis Of Suit

American Seating Company Case Against Patterson Heirs Is On Trial

The case of the American Seating Company of Chicago, Ill., against Annie P. Murdoch, Catherine Patterson, Minnie E. McCandless, W. H. Patterson and Rachael Patterson, was taken up for trial before Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning.

The case is one in which the plaintiff is trying to recover $3,823.98 from the defendants for seats in the Victor theater. The defendants are owners of the building in which the theater is located.

The theater was leased to Max H. Cransfield and T. B. O'Connor. They ordered 424 seats from the American Seating Company and they were duly installed, being attached to the floor with screws.

Cransfield and Connor only paid $500 down on the seats. Later then they left. The owners of the building seized the seats when they took possession for rent due. The whereabouts of Cransfield and Connor are now unknown.

The American Seating Company claims the seats on the contract which they had with Cransfield and Connor. The defendants maintain that as the seats were attached to the floor they became a part of the building and real estate on which it is located.

Just Two More Bible Classes

There will be just two more of the Community Bible classes which have been conducted weekly at the local Young Women's Christian association by Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church.

In the evening the sermon was "Soldier of the Cross." David Lewis sang a special number. There were baptisms at both the afternoon and evening services.

This evening the sermon topic will be "Wanted Tongue Tamers." David West and Mrs. Ruth Gibson will sing a duet "Unanswering Yet." David West will also sing a solo "Repent Ye."

C. S. Mills Salary Problem Unsettled

Likely That Court Will Settle Legality Of His Election

When council today approved the payroll of city employees, it did not contain the name of C. S. Mills, fire-fighter who was injured sometime ago during an East Side blaze. Mills is receiving compensation as a volunteer fireman. It is reported that the suit brought by Mills to compel payment of his salary will come before the Lawrence county court next month.

Mills was named a fireman by the former council. Acting upon legal advice, the city controller refused to have the warrants and Mills secured council and asked for a writ of mandamus to compel payment. Mills has worked almost a year without pay.

STRANGER ENDS LIFE IN ROOMING HOUSE ON SUNDAY NIGHT

was conducted by Coroner Orville Potter and Officers M. J. Young and D. J. Thomas. Evidently determined that no one should learn his identity, the man had cut possible identification marks from his hat band and had also torn into small bits, a water service card and a note book which were found in the waste basket of the room, which he had occupied since the previous evening.

He was without teeth, and a tooth found in one pocket, which had evidently been pulled lately was determined as not to have come from his mouth.

He was wearing a black knit sweater coat, gray hat with black silk lining, a brown colored shirt, brown trousers, which showed evidence of being very good, dark socks and dark shoes. There was a lady trapeze performer tattooed on the inside of his right forearm. He weighed about 170 pounds. His notebook indicated that he had been employed at times and kept a record of his work. Coroner Potter has sought the assistance of the Youngstown police and hopes to establish the identity of the man.

Sunday he did not leave the room and Mrs. Flynn went to the room about 3 p.m. and questioned him as to whether he wanted the room for another night. He remarked that he thought he would.

Nothing further was thought of the matter until after the return of Mrs. Flynn from church last night, when she and her son William and Jacob Stickle, another roomer, went up to determine whether or not he planned to stay.

On their arrival at the room, they found the door closed. Efforts to open it showed that there was something up against it to hold it. Mr. Stickle pushed it, pushing the chair that was holding it out of the way.

The light was out and the situation was not fully determined until light was turned on. When the situation was discovered, the police were called and then the coroner.

Refuse To Slash Prohibition Fund

Row Projected In House Today Over Appropriation For Dry Enforcement

Funds For Immigration, Anti-Trust Division And Justice Department Untouched

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A prohibition row was projected into the House today when the Appropriations committee declined to cut the $11,369,500 fund for the Prohibition Bureau while slashing virtually all other expenses in the state, justice, labor and commerce departments.

Despite the protests of two militant wet members of the sub-committee handling the bill, the committee upheld President Hoover's budget recommendation fixing the dry fund the same as last year.

The total of the bill for the four departments was cut 10 per cent below last year and four per cent under budget estimates. It carries $124,713,818 to run the departments the next fiscal year.

Request Refused

The prohibition bureau had requested 500 additional agents as recommended by the Wickersham commission, it was disclosed, but this request had been turned down by the budget bureau.

The committee, defending its action, said that funds for the dry law bureau, anti-trust division of the Justice Department and immigration had not been touched because they were important law enforcing agencies.

Attorney General Mitchell, explaining his stand before the subcommittee, defended the prohibition fund as follows:

"Here is a question of law enforcement in this country, and when I use that term I do not mean only prohibition; I mean every aspect of law enforcement. It is a great national problem and I shrink from anything that looks like a relaxation in our efforts to enforce these laws.

Cut Is Demanded

Representatives Tinkham (D) of Massachusetts and Griffin (D) of New York, members of the subcommittee, which framed the bill, demanded a cut in the dry law fund but were voted down. The bureau had $160,000 left over from last year.

Asked by Tinkham if he is satisfied with prohibition enforcement, Mitchell said:

"No I am not satisfied with it. I would like to see it improved. I think we have improved it a good deal and made a good deal of progress with a very difficult problem."

Mitchell estimated that 50 to 60 per cent of expenditures of the justice department in criminal activities applies to dry law enforcement.

Fourteen Agents Fired

Prohibition Director Woodcock, testifying, said that fines, penalties and seized property reduced the net cost to $5,495,178.

He said 681 letters of authority to agents to drink liquor to obtain evidence were issued last year and 14 agents were discharged for drinking.

The bill carries $160,000 for special employees, including pay for informants or "stool pigeons," which has been the object of attacks by wets.

State department appropriations were cut $1,484,702 from budget bureau recommendations, the commerce department was cut $556,447, labor department $155,970 and the justice department $2,844,089.

The crash occurred after the Columbia had made unsuccessful efforts for five hours to come to a landing, but was unable to do so owing to the high velocity of the wind.

Credit Expansion Measure Rushed

House Democratic Leaders Call Glass-Steagall Bill For Consideration

MOST IMPORTANT BANKING BILL

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Invoking extraordinary procedure to force quick passage of the Glass-Steagall credit expansion bill, house Democratic leaders today called the measure for consideration under suspension of rules.

Rep. Steagall (D) of Alabama, chairman of the banking committee, moved the suspension with the consent of Speaker Garner, thus limiting debate to two hours except by unanimous consent.

Meanwhile Senator Glass (D) of Virginia, handling the measure in the senate, also planned to obtain speedy action in that body.

The measure, described as the most important banking bill before congress in years, is limited in effect to one year but may be urged as permanent legislation. The bill authorizes:

Making of loans by Federal Reserve Bank to groups of five or more independent banks on demand promissory notes on collateral security not now eligible from rediscountrate at one per cent above the existing rate.

Granting of credit through rediscounting to individual banks on vote of six members of Federal Reserve Board on security not now eligible, at one per cent higher rate.

Permits placing of government obligations as security for Federal reserve currency above the 40 per cent minimum gold requirement, the provision being intended to free $750,000,000 gold now backing reserve notes above the legal requirement.

The bill faced some opposition and amendments but in view of the rise in the stock market, leaders predicted the necessary two-thirds vote could be obtained for passage under suspension.

Following the timely message of Mr. Derr came a talk along a similar vein that concerned New Castle more directly, given by President L. B. Round. The remarks were captioned "A New Era For New Castle."

Briefly, and to the point, the club leaders fitting words traced New Castle's growth since its beginning and made it clear that "a new era"—brighter perhaps than ever before—dawned with the start of 1932. Chart compilations were displayed as illustrative proof of a bright future for the city.

Guests today included Mayor Charles B. Mayne, Joseph Rick, the Rev. Ralph Neale of New Wilmington and Carl Davidson, Ellwood City.

George W. Derr, field representative of the National Automobile Dealers' Association, here to address the city's automobile executives at a dinner-meeting tonight, was the speaker. His subject was "Business Conditions in the Automobile World."

While the speaker chose to devote most of his time to the automobile branch of industry, discussing the particular phases of it that concern local businessmen most, he referred constantly to other industrial fields of interest. He sounded optimism as the greatest fact that will lead a till industry out of its present state.

Dr. Galbreath Preaches At First Stated Chapel Service On Sunday Night

New Westminster College Leader Speaks On "Fact of God"

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., 15.—The Rev. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, new president of Westminster College, preached his first Sunday chapel sermon last night in the chapel in Old Main Memorial at a service which attracted a large crowd of people in addition to students and professors of the college.

Taking as his text the letter to the Hebrews, chapter 6, verse 1, Dr. Galbreath spoke on "The Fact of God."

There are two sides to religion, Dr. Galbreath said: theoretical and practical. The one involves thought, theory, and knowledge; the other involves the expression of belief in daily life.

Pointing out the need of fundamentals in science, in mathematics, and in art, Dr. Galbreath stated that there are also fundamentals in religion. "The heart and core of all great religions in the world is the fact of God," he said. "This is the supreme fundamental of religion."

"Apart from the fact of God," the speaker continued, "there can be no religious experience. A life without God is an impossible sort of existence. I know of no catastrophe or tragedy comparable with a world without God."

Dr. John Orr, head of the Bible department, assisted Dr. Galbreath in the service. The college choir of 30 voices, directed by Professor Alan B. Davis, sang. Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride was at the organ.

LONG AVENUE FIRE IN EARLY MORNING

A cigarette that fired paper in a barrel standing in a hallway in the frame home of W. S. ## Constable Angered By "Tip Off" Will Make Raids, He Says

As a result of a friendly "tip off" which Constable James Ellison says, was delivered to the proprietor of an alleged speakeasy, on West Washington street, the constable with city policemen assisting could not make an arrest early Sunday.

The first ward constable was quite angered by the "tip" and said today that he intended to make his district "clean." Since he became constable in the ward as the result of the last election, he has "hit" 15 places, he pointed out today.

Speaking of the latest move in his ward Ellison said:

"On Sunday, a short time after midnight, we tried to raid the place but found someone had tipped off the proprietor and found no one there when we arrived. I intend to continue to make arrests until this ward is clean."

Valuable Cars Are Inspected

Many Cars Of Little Value Have Not Been Inspected

State Highway Patrol Corporal Lawton today said that a considerable number of Lawrence county automobiles have already been inspected, in pursuant to the motor law of the state. All must be inspected during March.

Lawton said that the owners of the machines most valued have apparently had their cars inspected but many of the cars valued at little have not yet been inspected.

THAYER CAR FIRE

Fire, believed to have been caused by either engine backfire or ignition trouble, damaged the sedan of A. L. Thayer, 332 East Lincoln avenue, Sunday evening. Second ward firemen responded to a telephone call for aid. Damage to the car was set at $10 by firemen.

The Ringwall incident was the second of its kind since the Japanese army started its invasion of China. Several weeks ago Culver B. Chamberlain, vice-consul at Haibin, was severely beaten by Japanese soldiers at Mukden, Manchuria.

Staff protests were made to Tokyo in this case, which resulted in the military interpreter involved being sentenced to a prison term, and the Japanese soldiers and their superior officers being given severe reprimands.

The State Department was immediately concerned in clearing up another American-Japanese "incident" resulting from the beating administered to Arthur R. Ringwall, American vice consul, and J. M. L. Young, American citizen, by armed Japanese volunteers. A full report from consul General Edwin S. Cunningham was expected during the day.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

How School Is Affected By The Home

Parents Have Part In Making Education Effective

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

In the "Ohio Teacher," under the caption "Home-School Relationships," I wrote recently about some things of interest, I hope, to parents. It ran about as follows:

In spite of our best efforts at school, most of the child's education is not gained there. It goes on outside of school chiefly at home, whether the teachers and his parents are aware of it or not. Why should we not set out deliberately to contribute toward this, larger field of education to the end that it shall be more effectual at home and that it shall make school education more effective too?

The learner's basic habits, attitudes, emotions are established for the most part in his home, even before he begins to go to school; and while he is attending school these factors have most of their normal routine in the home. Each day he comes to school he brings in his nervous system and much of his home along with him; and when he leaves the school in the afternoon he goes back to his home. It is there his life runs along naturally, as a rule. How he is treated there by his parents and others of the family, how worthy and secure he feels as a member of his family, his home habits and emotional life are determined largely by his success at school.

It is the child invisible, the sacred personality, that comes to school. Unseen, but felt, by him, may be his loved ones in the school. Side by side they sit with him, hand in hand they walk with him. These unseen guests at school may interrupt him with annoyances while he tries to study spelling, history or algebra; or make his learning easier by whispering words of encouragement. Sorrows, worries, fears, he may have at school on their account; or, hopes and joys and courage they may bring to him. Back in his consciousness may be vague or vivid memory of troubles and discouragement at home, or of happiness and hopes.

It rarely occurs to him to divulge these experiences of his to his classmates or his teacher, though he may reveal them unaware in many ways. Perhaps he thinks nobody cares about such matters, that if he were to mention them he might be rebuked or ridiculed.

An occasional child, particularly in the primary grades, does innocently take the teacher into his confidence and relates those human matters which lie closest to the fountain of his feelings. Probably he finds a sympathetic listener, though not always. Wonderful that teacher in whom the pupil eight or ten years old can repose complete confidence and trust, with no fear whatsoever about divulging his most intimate interest, hopes and fears, joys and sorrows.

Still more wonderful is that teacher who makes the adolescent pupil feel she cares enough about him as a feeling personality, to sit down and talk humanly and sympathetically about anything he chooses to discuss.

The adolescent boy or girl may have troubles which he or she never dared to tell anybody, not even the parents.

The man teacher who can make a lad feel secure enough to seek his counsel on all sorts of personal matters, or the woman teacher unto whom the adolescent girl comes freely for advice about her personal worries she had never ventured to reveal to another soul, is a rare human treasure in the classroom.

Billy Sunday To Go To Franklin

Despite Illness Billy Sunday Will Open Revival At Franklin, Pa.

International News Service

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—Billy Sunday, 70-year-old evangelist, today prepared to leave for Franklin, Pa., where he will conduct a three-weeks revival meeting although suffering from an attack of laryngitis and threatened with a nervous breakdown.

He will be accompanied by his wife who arrived here from Los Angeles last night. Mrs. Sunday said she had read of her husband's illness enroute here. She continued:

"I'd like to have him take a few days' rest—he certainly needs it. But it probably won't make any difference whether I allow him to continue or not. He'll do it anyway."

Sunday himself described the illness as "the worst I've ever had." He refused, however, to take a two-weeks hospital rest cure prescribed by his physicians.

Fewer Motorists Lose Privileges

No Lawrence County Drivers Are Penalized For Infractions Of State Code

International News Service

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—Operating licenses of 117 motorists were withdrawn last week, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles announced today. Of this number, 71 were revoked and 46 were suspended.

The withdrawal total was a reduction of 48 compared with the preceding week. Operating privileges were restored to 68. Revocations this year to date total 445 and suspensions 361.

There were no Lawrence County motorists on the penalty list this week. Leonard DeAugustine of Grove City had his license privileges suspended.

why Chesterfields are Better!

Just think what this means for Chesterfield smokers. It means that the larger part of 90 million dollars is invested in Domestic and Turkish tobaccos that are being properly aged in Nature's way, and cured so as to make them sweeter and milder.

CHESTERFIELD tobacco is packed in wooden casks, each containing about 1,000 pounds and stored for two years in modern, up-to-date warehouses.

These warehouses, if placed end-to-end, would be about four miles in length. From floor to ceiling they are filled with these casks of fine tobacco, ageing in Nature's slow but sure way.

It takes a lot of money to make a good cigarette—money to buy good tobaccos and money to age them properly.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder, and taste better...there's a 90 million dollar reason why! Just try them!

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—What few New Yorkers know:

That most weather prophets are agreed that there is a strange law of compensation, whereby every degree of abnormal temperature is offset by a degree in the other direction during coming years; implying that the extraordinary mild winter in many sections will be balanced by a season of phenomenal cold in 1932 or maybe 1935.

That Lindbergh, wearing a cap tilted over one eye, goes and comes about the city without being recognized. Is it the disguise, or to some extent, too, the fickle memory of a public groping for new idols?

That the proprietor of a Harlem night club was kidnaped practically from the floor without the guests being aware that anything unusual was going on.

That experienced bandits avoid pearls like the plague—the baubles being hard to dispose of, easily identified and seldom worth the trouble of stealing.

That the average Chinese newspaper bulletin, six feet long, posted in front of Chinatown's gazettes, could be condensed into 200 American words, or a few paragraphs of this column. But don't worry, it won't be!

That one of the big bookstores here, selling out, reduces the price of novels at the rate of a dime a day, of sets at the rate of a dollar a day—and customers can't wait to buy, fearing the books will be snapped up at the next morning's price sag.

That Wiley Post, who flew around the world, was taken up for a few stunts by a lady aviatrix the other day—and became very, very airsick.

whether Lewis will lie in a pauper's grave or in one marked by the patriotic society.

The aged man, formerly a well-to-do Kaner druggist, died in a small hotel here last week. His former wife, Mrs. Mary Ellen Lewis of Franklin, declined to claim the body.

Story Confirmed.

Lewis' only friend, G. B. Craig, a window-washer, told county authorities the aged, destitute man was a scion of the Lewis who signed the Declaration of Independence. Mrs. Lewis, in a telephone conversation confirmed Craig's story.

Craig, declaring his aged friend "too good for a pauper's grave" offered to provide burial but told county authorities he needed time to raise funds. Morgue officials notified the D. A. R. who announced they would investigate the claim of ancestry before taking action.

P. R. R. DIVISION HERE COPS SAFETY TROPHIES

E. & A. Forces Achieve
Highest System-Wide
Marks In 1931
Drive

ATTERBURY CUPS
WILL COME HERE

A signal honor for the Erie & Ashtabula and three other divisions of the Pennsylvania railroad in its Central region territory, was announced this morning by Vice President J. F. Deasy at his Pittsburgh office.

The official's announcement, long awaited by the E. & A.'s divisional office here, places the coveted safety trophies in the possession of those divisions which during 1931 ran up the highest safety record ever achieved by the Pennsy.

President W. W. Atterbury annually makes the awards.

Leader In Three

The E. & A. demonstrated leadership among the middle-sized divisions both in the maintenance-of-equipment and freight and yard train service departments. Their station department record insofar as safety is concerned was also perfect.

The Lake Grand division, of which the E. & A. is a part, led the entire system in accident prevention in the freight and yard train service; the engine service; the maintenance-of-equipment department and the station department.

The Pittsburgh division with headquarters at Pittsburgh won two trophies, leading the larger divisions of the system in both the maintenance-of-way and station departments. The Eastern division, also with headquarters at Pittsburgh, rolled up the best safety record among the larger divisions in the freight and yard train services.

The Renovo division, headquarters at Erie, won a trophy for its high record among the smaller divisions in the station department, the classification in which the E. & A. also scored 100 percent.

Drive Cuts Accidents

The Pennsylvania's safety contest is system-wide in its scope and all divisions and departments compete for the president's annual awards, based for comparative purposes on the number of accidents to employees per million man hours worked. So successful has been the drive against accidents on the road that injuries per million man hours have progressively declined from 19.1 in 1927 to 4.5 in 1931, a reduction in the five year period of 76 percent. The record for 1931 shows a decline in injuries of more than 27 percent under the previous year. The Pennsylvania now holds one of the lowest accident records in the world among the larger railroads.

The ideal now to be strived for on the Pennsylvania, Vice President Deasy said, is the practical elimination of accidents through the faithful observance by all employees of all rules and safe practices. He called upon all Central region employees to strive toward the fulfillment of this ideal.

Pittsburgh Professors Say United States Does Not Dare Set Example

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—Standing to benefit by any mutual reduction of armament, the United States dare not set an example by disarming first, according to two University of Pittsburgh professors, in articles in the "Pittsburgh Record" cut here today.

Dr. Benjamin H. Williams, professor of political science, and Maj. Otto H. Schrader, assistant professor of military science, based their assertion upon preeminence of the United States in industry and finance.

Both savants also expressed belief that armaments create war and that armament competition will inevitably lead to new conflicts.

Rev. Cox Scores Labor President

William Green, President Of Labor Federation Attacked Verbally By Priest

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—Voicing the conviction that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has "betrayed the interests of labor," Rev. James R. Cox, champion of the unemployed here, today struck back at the labor head for a reported attempt to bar the priest from a Philadelphia mass meeting.

Green was quoted as having expressed dissatisfaction that Father Cox had been invited to address an unemployment rally here because the priest "has political ambitions."

In his retort, Father Cox asserted he would not speak from the same platform as Green and amplified his assertion with the statement:

"We will go into politics in a way that Mr. Green and his friends will not like."

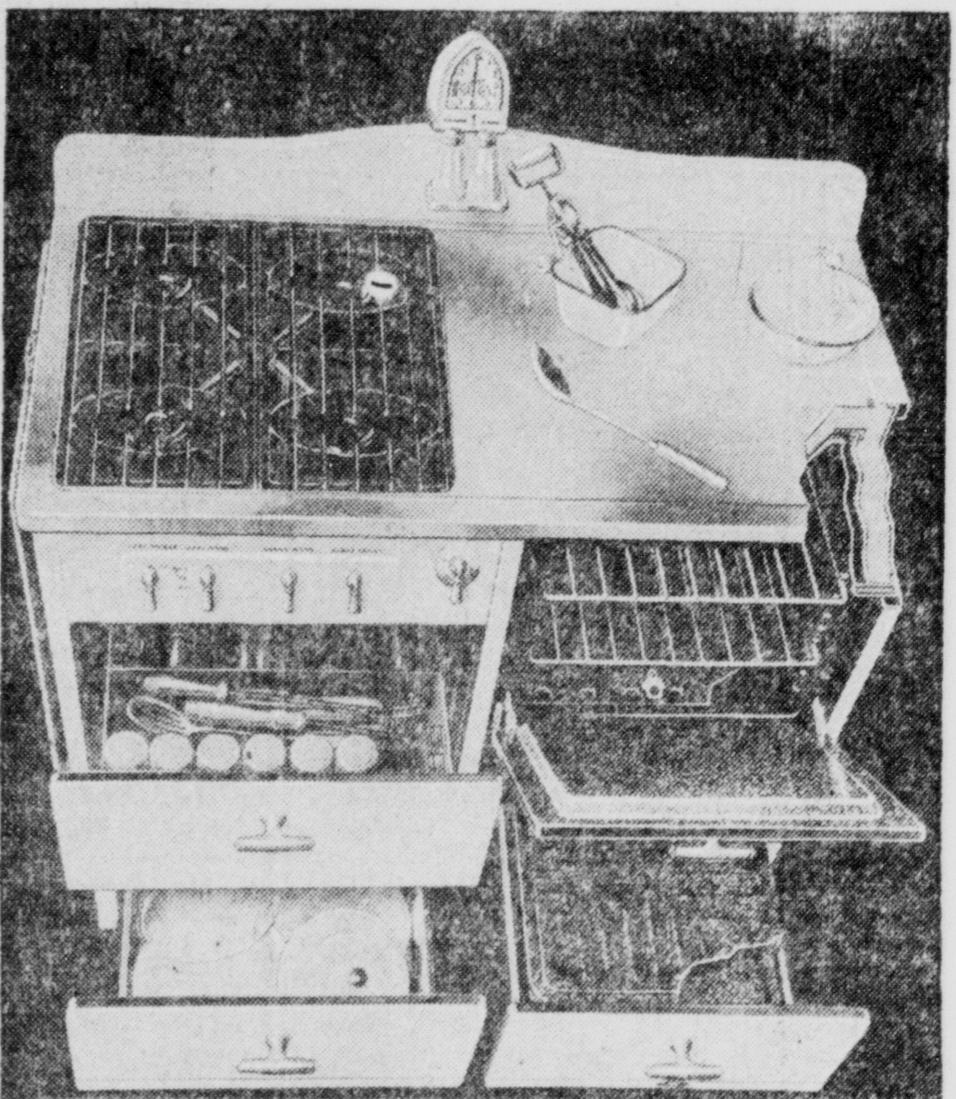

What has kept the labor movement back more than anything else is the fact that some of the leaders have listened to the voice of Wall street, which Green really represents. I haven't yet been invited to speak at the Philadelphia mass meeting but since Mr. Green has raised the issue, I won't speak from the same platform with him, now or ever.

Senate a Big Joke

The dignified atmosphere of the United States Senate did not chill the happy spirits of baby Christine Baldwin, who is shown with her mother as Mrs. Baldwin appeared before the Senate Committee to ask a Congressional investigation into labor conditions in the coal country of Kentucky. Christine cooed and gurgled at the staid solons, while her mother, a miner's wife, testified as to the chaos in the coal districts.

FATHER OF 8 KILLED IN CHIMNEY FALL

CANONSBURG, Pa., Feb. 15.—John W. Darr, 59, 753 Moxahala Street, Zanesville, O., died in the Canonsburg hospital Saturday from hurts received when a smokestack, in which he was preparing to work, collapsed at the High Holland greenhouse at McGovern. He fell a distance of 45 feet, suffering internal hurts. Mrs. Darr and eight children survive, living in the Ohio city.

Places raided included two local poolrooms, two Scottsdale stores and a roadhouse near Mt. Pleasant. State troopers from the Greensburg barracks are aiding in the drive, Humes said.

FARMER FALLS DEAD WHILE PLOWING FIELD

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 15.

Discovery of a team of plow horses, unattended in the stable yard led to a search for Edward G. Grove, 62, and finding of his body in a furrow where he had been plowing. Grove died from a heart attack while plowing in his orchard late yesterday.

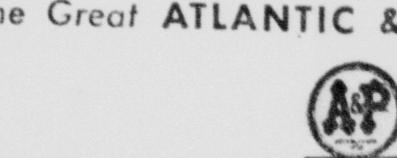

WHEN the founder of A & P sold his first pound of tea, he had the idea which was to make us successful by being useful to the public.

Tea in those days was selling for from two to three dollars a pound. And no wonder. An A & P advertisement, published in Harper's Weekly as early as 1867, lists eight profits which were then being taken between the tea garden in China and the tea cup in America.

"The Proprietors became fully convinced several years ago," the advertisement says, "that the consumers of Tea and Coffee were paying too many and too large profits on these articles of everyday consumption, and therefore organized this Company to do away, as far as possible, with these enormous drains upon the consumers, and to supply them with these necessities at the smallest possible price... We propose to do away with all these various profits... with the exception of a small profit to ourselves—which, on our large sales, will amply pay us."

And thus he managed to cut the price to one dollar a pound. And the result, of course, was that more people could afford to buy tea. This method of direct buying and small profits applies today, not only to tea, but to every one of the 1200 items we sell. Our policy was, is, and always will be, the elimination of unnecessary profits taken on food between the garden and the grocery shelf.

STOP THAT COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with its first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Make Plans For Observance Of Bi-Centennial

Chairman John W. Offutt
Names Aids On Committee And Outline Program

CHURCHES WILL HAVE SERVICES

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 15.—John W. Offutt, chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the bi-centennial observance of George Washington's birth, stated this morning that plans are well under way here for the opening of the big nationwide celebration.

Those who will aid Mr. Offutt in mapping out the program are the following:

Jud C. Turner, burgess.
J. A. Evans, chairman board of education.

Rev. W. E. Minteer, president Ministerial Association.

Rev. Robert D. A. Wilkey, pastor St. Agatha's church.

Elmer S. Greenham, commander American Legion.

Mrs. Fred Swanson, president American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. J. A. Gehbach, chairman of the D. A. R.

Mrs. J. W. Humphrey, president of Women's Club.

David Hamilton, president of Kiwanis Club.

L. W. Monroe, president of Rotary Club.

On Monday, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, there will be programs of various kinds in the schools. Monday evening there will be a mass meeting in the high school auditorium, when several prominent speakers will be heard on patriotic subjects.

There will be special services in all the churches of Ellwood City on Sunday, Feb. 21, prefacing the program on Monday.

Ellwood High To Be Inactive Till Friday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 15.—Due to an open date in the schedule which has not yet been filled Ellwood high will take it easy for a day or two when they will start their preparations for the invasion of Beaver Falls next Friday night.

The reason for the locals will come to a close the following week when they will play at Mt. Jackson on Tuesday and will entertain Rochester here on Friday night. The locals hold high hopes for winning the remainder of their games. They already hold a win over the Tigers which they hope to repeat next Friday.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 13.—A delightful event of Saturday evening was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mains when they pleasantly entertained a group of their friends at their home near Bolton.

The evening was most informally with games, radio music and cards being the chief pastimes until a late hour when a delectable collation was served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Miss Dorothy. The menu and appointments were cleverly carried out in Valentine tones.

Guests were Margaret Welch, Florence and Bernice Isenberger, Dorothy Mains, Arthur Keler, Philip Mains, Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Isenberger and family and Mr. and Mrs. Mains and family.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 15.—The Womens Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church will sponsor a congregational valentine party at the church beginning at 8 o'clock this evening. All the members of the church are invited. An interesting program of games, contests, and an entertainment has been arranged. The Mesdames C. E. Zeigler, E. B. Baker, George Dambach and Herman Wilson are in charge. Refreshments will be served at a later hour.

The Communicants' Class will hold a meeting on Wednesday afternoon at 4:15. A prayer service will take place at 7:45 p.m.

WURTEMBERG U.P.

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 15.—The Mary Braeden Circle of the Wurtemburg U.P. church will meet at the home of Mrs. Mary Hepler on Wednesday afternoon to do some sewing for a hospital. Also the Young People's society will meet for the regular study period Wednesday evening at the home of Jerry Warkley.

On Thursday night there will be a Worker's conference and the Young People will also hold a conference at the M. E. Church at 3 p.m. Friday. Registrations for the affair are now open.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Uber pleasantly entertained a number of friends at their home in Knox, Friday evening. Two tables of bridge were in play during the evening at the conclusion of which a delectable luncheon was served at the small tables which had been re-arranged and adorned with St. Valentine appointments.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Van Gorder, Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Painter, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gamble and the hosts.

Specialty And Hot Mills Win Games In Shelby League

Hot Mills Continues To Hold Edge Over Specialty By One Game

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 15.—The Hot Mills and Specialty continued to lead the Shelby basketball league Saturday night, when they respectively defeated the Office 31-17 and the Mechanics 39-33. The former holds a one game lead over its rival the Specialty, which hopes to even matters up on Wednesday evening.

In the first game the Specialty players had a narrow escape. They met a determined Mechanical team who fought to the last whistle. The Mechanics led until the end of the third quarter. The Specialty quint was held in satisfactory check for two periods. Unleashing a hitherto unrevealed offensive drive the Mechanics in no time had their opponents to a 12-8 disadvantage in the first quarter. They continued their fine work and at half time they were out in front by a 22-15 score. The Specialty was outscored 10-7 in this period. All of the Mechanical players acquired two or more baskets in this time. At the resumption of rivalries in the third quarter both teams resorted to defensive measures until near the end of the period. Then with rapid like precision the Specialty players started a devastating attack, then placed them in front and at the same time held their opponents in check.

The Mechanics were outscored 13-2 in this period to make the score 28-24 for the Specialty.

Matters were a little more even in the closing period. The Mechanics failed to produce enough of a spurt to place them in front. They were again scored 11-9 to make the final score 33-33 for the Specialty. It was largely the fine work by Boone, Patterson and Summers that was responsible for the Specialty's victory. The former caged six baskets and the latter two, five apiece. Arnold, Kimes, Mayne and Labate performed well for the losers.

The championship Hot Mills quint found little trouble in squelching the ambitions of the Office players. They took an early lead and maintained it throughout the game.

They increased their lead with every period. In their victory they were minus the services of their star center, Johnny Ursu. The champs took a 9-5 advantage in the initial period.

Their smooth attack began to function with rapid precision in the second quarter when they added six more points while holding their opponents scoreless. At half time the score stood at 15-5. The Hot Mills showed no signs of relaxing in the third period when they proceeded to add 9 points to their score to 3 for the Office. The Hot Mills lead 24-13 at the end of the period.

In the final quarter both teams resorted to defensive measures and little scoring was done. The final score was 31-17 for the Hot Mills.

The fine work of Dicky Freidhoff, Hot Mills' flashy forward was the highlight of the game. He caged six field goals and two fouls. Kelner also played well. Januzzi was the best bet for the Office.

Fans will flock to the clubhouse on Wednesday evening when the Hot Mills and Specialty will resume their rivalries. The former has on for consecutive times trimmed the Specialty.

Another defeat for them would practically insure the league cup championship for their rivals.

Besides this they are itching to partly avenge their defeats. To date the Hot Mills have a spotless record, and have yet to taste defeat. It is the general opinion that they will finish with a clean slate.

The Hot Mills team is undoubtedly composed of the best basketball material in the city. All but two of their 7 members have starred under H. Martin "Peck" Lee, former Ellwood High coach and now county detective. The five members used mostly are ex-high star.

The team is probably one of the greatest scoring aggregations in the county. Manager of the Shelby League, Charles Stevenson is arranging some post season games for the Hot Mills with crack teams in Lawrence and Beaver Counties.

Efforts are being made to schedule the St. Mary's five of New Castle and other strong teams in that city.

Those interested can get in touch with Mr. Stevenson by calling Ellwood City 157.

News Of The World As Told In Pictures

Talk Disarmament While Guns Thunder

While guns and bombs thunder in the Far East sowing a harvest of death and destruction, the International Delegates to the Geneva Disarmament Conference are shown in solemn conclave to discuss ways and means whereby the world can rid itself of the curse of war. Lower left, above, is Hugh Gibson, United States Ambassador to Belgium and delegate to the conference, who presented a 9-point program to the assembly calling for the abolition of submarines and lethal gases, as well as the adoption of measures to protect civilians against aerial bombing. Top inset are two of the Japanese delegates, General Matsui and Mr. Matsudaira, and lower right Arthur Henderson (left), of the British delegation, conferring with Andre Tardieu, who is representing France at the conference.

Preparing for Trench Warfare

This actual photo from the scene of the Sino-Japanese hostilities shows Japanese soldiers engaged at the task of digging trenches at Shan Hai Kwan, gateway from China proper to Manchuria. The activities of the invaders did not cease with the capture of virtually the entire province of Manchuria. The scene of operations has now shifted to Shanghai and Woosung, where the Japanese and Chinese armies face each other on a 16-mile front preparing for a decisive battle.

All Not Quiet on Far Eastern Front

The two photos above are typical of the scenes in and around Shanghai as Chinese and Japanese invaders face each other along a 16-mile front in a terrific battle for mastery. Though the Japs have pounded the Woosung forts with everything at their command—bombs from the air and shells from warships on the Whangpoo River—the defenses are still being held by Chinese troops such as those shown here. Lower panel shows a Chinese artillery battery in action. Most of their guns are obsolete, but they give back shell for shell to the invader and have so far prevented any considerable advance.

ROCKEFELLER STILL REPORTED ILL

Only Three-Hour Day

Although Professor Clifford Furnas, of Yale, recently predicted that men would work only three hours a day in the not too far distant future, and be hard put for diversion during their leisure hours, he labors fully eight hours a day now. The young professor is a chemist.

Fear Kidnap Plot

Following a mysterious warning note, three-year-old Jane Bannister, daughter of Ann Harding, film star, is being closely guarded by detectives in her Hollywood, Calif., home. The girl, shown with mother, is believed to be the objective of a kidnapping gang.

With Southern Exposure

It would appear that the fashion moguls were slightly in error when they announced some time ago that the pajama fad was on its way to oblivion. Here is Miss Emily Perkins, Boston society girl, wearing the pajamas which occasioned many a gasp from the decorous blue bloods of her set when she wore them to a recent opera premiere in the Hub City. At left is a front view of the costume, showing how one can scarcely distinguish the pajamas from the orthodox evening gown. Ah, but glance at back view, shown at right, where the design is calculated to make one sigh for the wide, open spaces.

Lovelorn Cherokee

Charging that he induced her to abandon her stage career on a promise of matrimony, Phyllis Emerson, Cherokee Indian girl, is suing Nathan B. Stern, jewel heir of New York, for $100,000 to heal the bruise on her heart. Miss Emerson appeared on the New York stage in 1927 and 1928 as a member of the "Vanities."

"Shots" from the War Zone

Contrary to appearances, these Chinese soldiers are not drinking from thermos bottles. They are biting the protective covers from the detonation caps of some deadly shells before sending them over to the Japanese invaders with love and kisses. The lower panel shows a lone Chinese machine gunner in an outpost outside Woosung. It is men like this that have put up such a desperate resistance to the attempted occupation by Jap landing parties at Chapei and its environs.

Australian Turf Challenger

Considered by racing experts the finest thoroughbred ever produced in the "down under" part of the British Empire, Phar Lap, Australia's wonder horse, is now in America seeking fresh fields to conquer. Besides winning the Melbourne Cup in 1930, Phar Lap has won $276,800 for his owner, David A. Davis, in prize money to date and is now training at the Agua Caliente track with the object of adding the $50,000 classic to his list of victories. The Agua Caliente Handicap is to be run on March 20 and turf followers in this country are eagerly waiting to see how the Australian invader will stand up against stiff competition by the home product. Some talk of an international race between Phar Lap and representatives of Canada and the United States has been heard, but nothing definite has been decided.

Where U. S. Navy Is Playing at War

While real grim war rolls its thunder in the Far East, the United States Navy is putting on a make-believe "big parade" in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands. Photos above show the scene where the Black, or defending fleet, is striving valiantly to keep the Blue, "enemy" fleet, from taking the island of Cahu. Top photo shows a squadron of navy bombing planes flying over the island of Hilo in combat formation. Lower panel shows three vessels of the "Black" fleet anchored in the lee of the island in a strategic position. The beautiful wooded coastline is typical of the "Paradise of the Pacific."

Plaudits and Bullets for Them

Here is a company of the now famous Chinese 19th Army on the march near Shanghai, led by the workmanlike machine gun squad. These troops startled the Japanese and won the plaudits of the military world by their unexpected and tenacious defense of Woosung Fort. An explanation of the reversal of the usual Chinese fighting form may be found in the report from Shanghai that former German officers are directing the Chinese troops. The defenses resemble the famous "Hindenburg Line."

Stockholder 67 Years

As was expected, Norway took first honors in the ski events at the Winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N. Y. The defending champion, John Grottmusbraten (above), won the 18 kilometer (11 1/4 miles) race and then jumped 168 feet to cinch the title.

Moses Hooper, Oshkosh, Wis., attorney, lays claim to the longest record as a stockholder and director of a bank. Hooper, approaching 97, has held stock in the First National Bank of Oshkosh since 1865. He has been a director since 1882.

THE GUMPS—

Poor Bill — After all that chase — he jumped overboard — thinking to save the life of Millie de Stross, but instead he risked his life and fished her mother out of the sea instead — better known as the Old Guard.

And she called him the old man of the sea — well — old man of the sea or not — he saved her life —

THE OLD GUARD

Here — grab this barrel — quick! And I will go and see if I can find Millie — Now — for Millie — If she is still afloat he will save her — Mama will be safe until he returns —

Young Robin Hood Is Held By Police

New Jersey Boy, 15, Who Robbed Rich To Help Poor Is Arrested

Confesses To More Than 100 Burglaries In Fashionable Districts

(International News Service) NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 15.—An astonishing story of how a 15-year-old schoolboy, stirred by the plight of poverty stricken widows, orphans and unemployed, turned Robin Hood, robbing the homes of rich persons and distributing the wealth to the poor, was told today by the boy to police who arrested him.

For three months, he confessed, he spent his nights burglarizing houses. Always he took cash, and used it to provide food and clothing or money to those he believed to be in need.

Because of his youth, police refused to reveal the name of the boy, who throughout his career of nocturnal robberies never missed a day in school.

Bought Bicycle
He told police he never spent any of the proceeds of his thefts on himself. Once he bought a bicycle for himself for $16, but said his mother's reproachful eyes caused him to sell it and give her the money.

At first, he confessed, he sent the money he stole anonymously to his mother, the widow of a world war veteran, and his two sisters. But when she was puzzled by the repeated money receipts, he devoted the money to philanthropic purposes among the poor of the Weequahic district where most of his burglaries took place.

Jewels, which attracted him by their beauty, he always threw into ash cans, he told authorities because he did not know how to convert them into cash. In all, he confessed to more than 100 robberies, police claimed.

Leif Erickson, son of Leif the Red, the semi-historic character who is thought to have discovered Labrador.

Power Question Theme Of Day

Assemblmen And Power Co. Head Are Heard On Sunday Afternoon

With approximately 350 in attendance, the People's Forum held its weekly meeting Sunday afternoon in the Ludwig garage on West Washington street. The question under discussion being "Light" on the Power Question".

Three speakers presented facts and figures in support of their positions. Assemblman Bart Richards was the first speaker and reviewed the work of the house investigating commission which investigated the utilities and the public service commission, in the regular legislative session of 1931. Assemblman D. Glenn Moore of Washington, Pa., who was chairman of the commission, followed and spoke further upon the work of the commission.

Louis B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, presented the utility side of the question and spoke on the aims and policies of his company. The meeting then was thrown open for question and discussion and a number of the crowd took part.

Battle Of Proxies Under Way Today

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 15.—A "battle of proxies," with the control of the $300,000,000 Transamerica Corporation at stake, got under way here today. The battle found A. P. Giannini, founder and former president on one side, and Elisha Weaker head of the board of directors of the company, said to be the largest holding company in the country, on the other.

Giannini, a well known San Francisco financier, is here from the west coast with the object of regaining the presidency which he resigned a year ago. He founded the company in 1928.
